It also tells the story of how the government sought to silence Buddhist activists during the Vietnam War. It is written with gentleness. Thay's joys and disappointments spring from the story. In Fragrant Palm Leaves he tells of the boys at a camp near the cabin where he was staying during August of 1962 -- in Medford, NJ.

Fragrant Palm Leaves reveals a vulnerable and questioning young man, a student and teaching assistant at Princeton and Columbia Universities from 1962-1963, homesick and reflecting on the many difficulties he and his fellow monks faced at home trying to make Buddhism relevant to the people's needs. We also follow Thich Nhat Hanh as he returns to Vietnam in 1964, and helps establish the movement known as Engaged Buddhism.
